Join us in the fight against hospital malnutrition in surgical patients in Asia

The Nutrition Insights Day is a comprehensive survey that will provide important insights into the nutritional management of surgical patients in seven Asian countries.

The study has been developed with a number of clinical nutrition experts from the region, who will also be involved in processing and evaluating the data.

Aim of this study is to analyze the current nutritional practice, obtain important insights on frequency and extent of malnutrition in patients undergoing major abdominal/gastrointestinal surgery and help to improve the standard of nutritional care in hospitals.
